Dear Friends of Ebenezer:

Please join Ebenezer as we host our third annual, "Pasta For A Purpose", a fundraiser on Saturday, February 18th at 5:30 pm at Hales Corners Lutheran Church. This special event has become our top fundraising event of the year.

You belong here.

I am so excited to tell you that our special guest/speaker will be Superbowl Champion James Jones.

James Jones is a Super Bowl-winning wide receiver and a Green Bay Packers legend. James is currently an NFL analyst for both the Oakland Raiders and Green Bay Packers and appears on a variety of NFL programming. Prior to his role as an analyst, Jones finished his career having played nine seasons, only missing eight games. In those nine seasons, he totaled a career 5,861 receiving yards, 433 receptions and 51 touchdowns. Jones was drafted in the third round by the Green Bay Packers in the 2007 NFL Draft. He played in Super Bowl XLV in 2011 with the Packers, helping them win over the Pittsburgh Steelers. Jones finished his career in Green Bay, becoming 10th in Packer's history in career catches, 12th in receiving yards and 9th in touchdowns.

James has a life story you will want to come and hear and that is relevant to work we do at Ebenezer Stone Ministries!

Ebenezer Stone Ministries has been serving underprivileged clients at our 35th & Scott St. location on Milwaukee's southside since 2009. Today we serve more than 3,000 individuals and families through the food pantry, medical screening, Saturday breakfasts, and Wednesday lunches. In addition, we offer a book nook and arts and crafts for younger children, while older kids can learn teamwork and healthy exercise habits during the open gym. In an area that faces many socioeconomic challenges, we are making a positive impact.

Our 2nd location Ebenezer East, is a 13,000 sq ft facility that provides food to 22 pantries throughout SE Wisconsin. Since the start of 2022, we have been able to deliver 230,000 pounds of food to those partner pantries. Inflation is making life more difficult for many families. We are providing food, so families don't have to go without while they are trying to manage other areas of their lives impacted by the higher prices.

We are depending on you, to help assure the success of this event. Please join us!

Over 700,000 Wisconsin families expect to be impacted by termination of additional FoodShare benefits

APPLETON - Starting in 2020, during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic, an emergency federal program entitled anyone enrolled in FoodShare to additional benefits, determined by household size.

Almost three years later, some FoodShare holders still have been receiving these additional funds thanks to the federal program, but on Wednesday it was announced that the extra funds will end in February, affecting more than 700,000 Wisconsin families. Maureen Fitzgerald, vice president of government relations for Feeding America Eastern Wisconsin, said the cut will result in an average loss of $221 per month for those families. The loss of the emergency funds will result in a $78 million monthly loss to the entire state.

"The idea was that (the emergency allotments) were going to last while the public health emergency was in place, and the federal public health emergency is still in place but Congress, in December, decided to end these benefits in February," Fitzgerald said. Two groups of FoodShare receivers that will be impacted by these cuts the most will be seniors and people with disabilities, Fitzgerald said.

"Prior to the pandemic, they often were receiving the minimum benefits a month," Fitzgerald said. "What will happen now is with these cuts, many families will go back to the minimum benefits, and that's $23 a month."

With these cuts happening soon, food pantries will start to see an increase in people coming in for emergency food. Fitzgerald said pantries have already started to see an increase before the additional benefits have ended.

"People in need are really struggling right now and this is just going to exacerbate that issue," Fitzgerald said.

While there's currently no word on if emergency funds will be reinstated, Fitzgerald urges FoodShare holders to make sure their information is updated and to ensure they are getting the correct amount of benefits for their households.

"Because emergency allotments were in place and everyone was receiving the individual maximum, there wasn't a need to provide your medical expenses or to make sure that you're showing that you've got shelter and utility costs," Fitzgerald said. Those enrolled should ensure that this information is correct and update their address, phone number and email with the Department of Health Services as it's anticipated that these cuts also will impact other programs.

You can apply for FoodShare and manage all of your information through the ACCESS Wisconsin website.
